

HARBOR IS CLEARED

And the Russian Fleet Returns Safely to Anchor at Port Arthur.

Deny That Vessels Were Lost

In the Fight Off Port Arthur on the 23rd of June—The Japanese Are Advancing on Liao Yang by Eastern Road to Cut Off the Russians.

St. Petersburg, June 30.—A Russian torpedo boat has arrived at New Chwang from Port Arthur. Her commander denies that any Russian ships were sunk or damaged in the fight off Port Arthur on June 23. He declares that after clearing away the Japanese mines the whole Russian fleet returned safely to the harbor.

St. Petersburg, June 30.—1:30 p. m. The Russian invalid, the army organ, is the notable, significant exception to the popular belief that a great battle is imminent. It gives no intimation that it is General Kurapatkin's purpose to fall back and not try conclusions, but sees in the developments of June 26 and 27, evidence that the Japanese themselves do not contemplate a decisive engagement. The paper also expresses the opinion that the massing of armies in the direction of Hai-Cheng and Su-Yen is for the purpose of assuring the Japanese occupation of the whole of the Liao-Tung Peninsula and control of the railroad for an advance on Liao-Yang at the end of the rainy season, which, together with the siege of Port Arthur, it regards as the first stage of the Japanese campaign. The Russian invalid therefore considered that the movement from Feng-Wang-Cheng toward Liao-Yang is merely a demonstrative menace against the Russian line of communications north of Liao-Yang.

BULLETIN.
Liao-Yang, Wednesday, June 29.—Delayed in transmission—The Japanese columns which forced the passage of Mo-Tien Pass, are advancing on Liao-Yang by the eastern road. A Russian force commanded by General Count Keller is holding a fortified position commanding the road on this side of the pass. The object of the Japanese is to cut the Russian communications northward of Liao-Yang while General Kurapatkin is operating in the vicinity of Hai-Cheng, with practically the whole of the Russian forces.

STORIES CONFLICT
Which Leads to Belief That Togo Has Won Another Victory.

New Chwang, June 30.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer, Lieut. Burukoff, arrived here from Port Arthur yesterday evening and is berthed along side the gunboat Sivouch. The river bank was soon crowded with excited natives, who were told by the Russians that the Japanese fleet had been completely destroyed.

The officers of the Lieut. Burukoff tell several stories. One is that Admiral Togo's fighting was exaggerated and another story is that the Port Arthur fleet has joined the Vladivostok squadron.

The correspondent of the Associated Press sent a messenger who speaks Russian, to the side of the destroyer, but the Russian sailors would not talk except to say that they left Port Arthur Tuesday night. Every inch of the boat was crowded with men. She had the appearance of having been in a general engagement, her bow gun having been shot away, and it looked as if she had rescued many men. The Lieutenant Burukoff is of the torpedo boat destroyers taken from the Chinese in Taku in 1900. The general belief here is that she ran Admiral Togo's blockade and came here with despatches for the army and for St. Petersburg. The Russians last night celebrated their arrival. Bands of music from the camp, east of the town were sent to the administrator's house where there was singing and a champagne dinner followed.

All the efforts made to obtain information regarding General Kuroki's movements have been futile. An unconfirmed report is circulated that he has reached Hai Cheng and cut off communication with Liao Yang.

The Russians have a large force at Ta Tehe Kiao.

A Russian officer informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that General Kurapatkin's plan is to place 180,000 men in that vicinity. This, however, is believed to be impossible. Heavy rains continue.

Russians Do Some Attacking.
Tokio, June 30.—11 a. m.—Reports from Gensan, Korea, state that the Russian Vladivostok squadron appeared there today and attacked that place. The firing was done by destroyers.

Seoul, June 30, 2:50 p. m.—It is announced from official sources that the Russian Vladivostok squadron, consisting of three cruisers and ten torpedo boats and destroyers, appeared off Gen San today and threw 180 shells into the Japanese settlement.

AMBITIOUS RUSSIA
Insists That Manchuria and Korea Must Become Hers.

St. Petersburg, June 30, 11:46 a. m.—No word has come from General Kurapatkin later than June 27th, and not a single newspaper despatch has been received from the front during the last twenty-four hours. This silence in the theatre of war is regarded as a sign of the coming storm.

The Bourse Gazette this morning says: "We are on the eve of a battle which may settle the fate of Manchuria and Korea. Both must become Russian—the former, because blood was shed there; the latter, because it is essential to the safety of our communications between Vladivostok and Port Arthur."

Broke About Even.
London, June 30.—A despatch to the Japanese legation from Tokio, today gave a few details of the operations at Fen Shui Pass. It says the Russians left ninety dead on the main road, while the number left elsewhere is not yet estimable. Six Russian officers and eighty-two men were captured. The total casualties of the Japanese are estimated at 170.

Victory For Japs.
The report which was sent by the commander of the Taku Shan army, says the Japanese army in three columns, commenced operations June 26, for the occupation of Fen Shan Pass, where the Russians had constructed semi-permanent fortifications, with forts, entrenchments, wire entanglements and abatis. The Russians stubbornly resisted, but after a fierce engagement the Japanese succeeded in surrounding the Russians, and finally captured the pass, June 27.

No Losses Mentioned.
St. Petersburg, June 30.—4:40 p. m.—An official despatch received from Lieut. Gen. Stoesel, the commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, says that the squadron of Rear Admiral Witthoff re-entered that port after repulsing five torpedo boat attacks. It contains no further details so far as can be ascertained. It does not mention any damage to the Russian ships.

Japs Erecting a Fort.
Che Foo, June 30.—6 p. m.—The European and Chinese refugees who have recently arrived here from Port Arthur tell widely different stories of the result of the naval battle of June 23. The Europeans say that only the battleship Sevastopol and the transport Amur were damaged and that no Russian vessel was sunk. The Chinese say it was reported at Port Arthur that one large ship was sunk and that three were damaged. The Europeans assert that the impression prevails at Port Arthur that the Japanese will succeed on the land side. The Japanese are erecting a big gun fort, commanding the harbor entrance and Golden Hill fort.

A One Sided Engagement.
London, June 30.—6:22 p. m.—An official despatch from Tokio, says the Japanese consul at Gen San, Korea, reports as follows: "Early this morning June 30, six Russian torpedo boats entered the port, fired about two hundred shots upon the settlement, sank a steamship and a sailing vessel, then

JAPS INTRENCHING IN MANCHURIA.

The hills of Manchuria are now being covered with intrenchments and fortifications of a more or less permanent sort. No space of country since the European wars between France and England in Marlborough's time has ever been so thickly covered with forts, shooting trenches and gun covers. The Japanese are very handy with the spade and in attack, but the Russians showed in their work after their Yalu defeat that they could intrench quickly and well. It was the swift intrenchment of the Russian guards back of the lost Russian position which stopped Kuroki's attempts to capture every gun in the enemy's camp.

rejoined their ships outside the harbor and disappeared. Two Koreans and two soldiers were slightly wounded. The damage done to buildings is insignificant."

MILLIONS OF BEER BOTTLES

More Than Any Other Place in the World, Made in Massillon During Ten Months Run.

Massillon, O., June 30.—Work at the three Massillon glass factories will close tonight for two months. Two hundred and forty-two thousand gross, or nearly 35,000,000 beer bottles were made during the past ten months—more than were made in any other one place in the world. Nearly 1,000 men are employed in the plants.

MUST WAIT ON HERRICK.

Columbus, June 30.—The tuberculosis commission which is to select and purchase a site for the new hospital today organized with Governor Herrick president and Dr. C. O. Probst, of the state board of health, secretary. Probst filed a list of essential requirements which will be considered and doubtless adopted before the board makes any inspection of prospective sites. This inspection will not be until after the governor completes his summer vacation.

ANOTHER CONVICT FREED.

Columbus, O., June 30.—Frank Pfeister, sentenced to four years in the penitentiary from Clinton county in 1902, for rape with consent, was pardoned today by Governor Herrick on recommendation of the board of pardons.

OHIO MURDERER GAINS FREEDOM.

Another Life Man Has Sentence
Commuted to Thirteen Years
by Governor Herrick.

Columbus, O., June 30.—Governor Herrick today pardoned Bert Williamson, of Bainbridge, Ross county, sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Jno. Mitchell, in a drunken row. The sentence of Jno. Tyler, of Cincinnati, convicted for the killing of a man named Morton, December, 1893, has been commuted to 13 years by Governor Herrick. Tyler was sentenced for life but the board of pardons recommended commutation.

MAN AND WIFE FOUND DEAD.

Elmyra, N. Y., Shocked by Grewsome Discovery of the Police Department.

Elmira, N. Y., June 30.—Wm. H. Owen, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office in this city and his wife were found dead in their home today. According to the police who reported the fact, the couple had been dead two days.

INVESTIGATION BEGINS.

New York, June 30.—The federal grand jury today began its investigation of the General Slocum disaster. General Henry L. Burnett, the United States district attorney and Assistant United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise, had charge of the case.

HERRICK HAS ANOTHER JOB.

Cleveland, O., June 30.—Governor Myron T. Herrick has been re-elected president of the Society for Savings for another year, in compliance with the understanding to that effect with the trustees when he became a candidate for governor last year. The annual report of the society shows that the deposits have grown from $42,009,884 one year ago to $45,379,491 now. The number of depositors has increased from 71,580 one year ago to 75,243 and the average deposit has grown from $603.35 to $604.63.

TRIBUTE TO WM. MCKINLEY.

Members of Philippine Commission Place Flowers on His Casket.

Cleveland, June 30.—Six members of the Philippine commission left here today for Canton to pay a tribute to the memory of the late President Wm. McKinley, placing a floral wreath upon his casket. The members of the committee, Juan DelLeon, Hon. Mariano Trías, Vincent Noel, Juan Sumung, Leoncio G. Lique, and Senor Ortega.

The remaining members of the commission were taken for a lake ride on the naval reserve steamer Hawk. Later in the day the visitors held an informal reception at the Chamber of Commerce. Tonight they leave for Detroit by boat.

Canton, O., June 30.—Shortly before 1:30 o'clock five members of the Philippine commission delegated to carry a wreath of flowers to the tomb of the late President McKinley and to carry greetings of the whole country to Mrs. McKinley, reached Canton over the B. & O. At the station they were met by a committee of Cantonians in automobiles, including Justice Wm. R. Day of the supreme court, Mayor W. H. Smith, Postmaster Geo. B. Froese, Lieutenant Leo Danne-miller, Lieutenant Burnett, of the guard at the McKinley tomb; Judges Ambler and McCarthy; Secretary F. S. Hartwell and W. A. Lynch and city officials. The party was immediately taken to hotel McKinley for luncheon. Later the party viewed a highly prized portrait of the late president in Justice Day's chambers, and then called upon Mrs. McKinley.

WILL ACCEPT RESIGNATION

Of Charles M. Schwab as President of Steel Corporation, at Meeting Next Month.

New York, June 30.—The resignation of Chas. M. Schwab, former president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, as a director of the corporation it is announced, is in the hands of the full board and will be accepted at the quarterly meeting in July.

GRANTED ANOTHER TRIAL.

Columbus, June 30.—The supreme court today adjourned its open session until September 28. Before adjourning the court reversed the decision of the Hamilton county circuit court in the murder case of Fred H. Geiger, which will give Geiger another trial in common pleas.

NEW CRUISER OUT ON TRIAL.

Another of Uncle Sam's Bodyguard,
The Colorado, Is Now Ready for Active Service.

Philadelphia, June 30.—The armored cruiser Colorado, built for the government at the Cramp shipbuilding yards, started today for a preliminary trial trip off the coast. The vessel will anchor inside of the Delaware breakwater tonight, and early tomorrow will proceed some miles out to sea, where the test will be made. One of the main features of the present trial will be the working of the tubular boilers, which in some instances have proven very satisfactory, but a failure in others.

The cruiser is in charge of Captain Buckman. The Colorado is of 13,400 tons displacement, has two engines of the vertical direct-acting triple expansion type, of 23,000 horse power and thirty water tube boilers of the Niclausse type.

DEMOCRAT APPOINTED.

Columbus, June 30.—The board of trustees of the Madison Lake home for soldiers, sailors, and army nurses, organized today by electing Judge S. D. Wildman, of Norwalk, president, and J. Cory Winans, of Troy, secretary. Governor Herrick filed the board by the appointment of Geo. Robinson of Washington C. H., democrat. The property at Madison lake will be taken over by the state forthwith and the board left today to look over it preliminary to the appointment of a superintendent.

WIDOW'S SON WAS PARDONED.

Who Was Sentenced to a Reform atory for Five Years for Picking Pockets.

Columbus, O., June 30.—Charles Shipley, 21, a widow's son and only support, sentenced from Lancaster in 1901 to serve five years for pocket-picking, was pardoned today by Gov. Herrick on recommendation of the pardon board.

PAYS $2,000 A YEAR.

Columbus, June 30.—Governor Herrick today appointed Sam Huston, of Steubenville, to the state highway commissioner. Huston has been county surveyor of Jefferson county several terms, a lecturer with the national good roads commission and is an unusually well qualified man for the place. It pays $2,000 a year.

VERY IMPRESSIVE

Were Services Over the Mortal Remains of Henry J. Middleton.

Liao Yang, June 29.—Delayed in Transmission—The burial of Henry J. Middleton, correspondent of the Associated Press, took place at seven o'clock Monday evening, during a heavy thunder storm. The funeral service, that of the Greek church, conducted by Father Theodore, the chief of Pakrofsky Monastery, was most touching. A number of wounded in the hospital knelt and prayed. Douglas Story, correspondent of the London Daily Express, Lord Brooke, correspondent of the Associated Press, the surgeons, several sisters and convalescents accompanied the bier which was borne on the shoulders of soldiers, across the fields to a small knoll, where the soldiers are buried.

RETURN OF DOC. DOWIE

The Occasion of a Great Celebration
by Residents of Zion City.

Flowers Strewn in His Path

After Which the "Alleged Bankrupt" Went Into Retirement to Receive, Undisturbed, Reports of His Lieutenants. Five Cities "Red Lettered."

Chicago, June 30.—After a trip which circled the earth, John Alexander Dowie arrived in Chicago today. When the train pulled in at the La Salle street station, however, there were no cheering followers. He had sent word ahead that he would not soil his feet with the dust of Chicago. He remained in his private car while it was switched to the Chicago and North Western railroad depot where it was attached to a train scheduled to leave for the Dowiette settlement at Zion City, Ill.

Dowie was eating breakfast when the train pulled in. He was garbed in a white suit and wore a white cap. Beside him sat his son Gladstone Dowie, and a young woman. Mrs. Dowie was not visible.

"Doctor" Dowie has not yet been discharged from the federal court, being still known on the records as an "alleged bankrupt." Just before Dowie left Chicago for Australia, Attorney Frank H. Scott, representing Marshal Field & Co., went into the bankruptcy court and petitioned Judge Kohlsaat to order Dowie to appear for examination. Judge Kohlsaat said at that time that he would not be justified in interfering with Dowie's trip and that the examination could go over until after his return. Attorney Scott today declined to say whether he would now insist on the examination of Dowie. Attorney Samuel Ettleson, who represents the petitioning creditors in the Dowie case said today that unless Dowie failed to live up to agreements with the creditors, it was not probable there would be a clash in the case.

Attorney Ettleson said: "Dowie has promised to pay his debts dollar for dollar. He has made two ten per cent payments. There is always a chance for reverses, but unless some dissatisfied creditor gets busy I think he will pull through all right." Though many residents of Zion City were

Prepare For Leader.
Though many residents of Zion City were all night making the finishing touches in the preparations for the arrival of "Doc" Dowie, the entire place was astir early. The streets were decorated with flags and bunting. The streets have been rolled and sprinkled and all the stores were closed. Aside from a triumphal arch the tabernacle was the chief object of decoration. Here Zion flags, blue and a cross in the center, flourished in the breeze in numbers. On higher up was the "Union Jack" of England and surmounting was a huge American flag.

Red Lettered Cities.
"The arch of triumph" situated near Elkhart avenue, was made of imitation blocks of stone. Each block bore the name of a city which Dowie had visited in his travels. Black letters denoted the cities where Dowie had been received, while the names of the cities that had shunned him stood out in glaring red. The red lettered cities were San Francisco, Sidney, Melbourne, Adelaide, London.

At the sound of a whistle the entire population spent two minutes in silent devotion, and were then given six minutes in which to assemble for a procession in which was to greet Dowie. Ten companies of Zion City guards, 70 men each, formed in line while the so-called "restoration host"—3,500 strong, lined up at the tabernacle. The guards met at the arch, the Dowiette senior and junior choirs robed in surplices. The march to the depot was taken up by the other residents falling in behind.

Very Picturesque.
On the arrival of the train at Zion City, Dowie's carriage, a victoria, trimmed with carnations, ferns and similar, conveyed the "Doc" and his chief overseer at the head of the procession to the arch, the Zion brass band furnishing music. At the arch, ten little girls stepped forward, robed in white, with blue badges across their breast bearing in gold letters the names of ten of the principal countries which Dowie had visited. The children carried large bunches of roses which they threw over Dowie and his party. The white-robed choir sang an anthem and Dowie went into retirement to receive reports from his lieutenants.

DESPERATE NEGRO, REVOLVER IN HAND,

Fatally Wounds a Patterson, N. J., Merchant, and Seriously Injures Another. The Negro Captured.

Patterson, N. J., June 30.—Max Woolenberg, a local merchant, was shot today by a negro, and fatally wounded. The negro in his flight shot and seriously wounded another citizen, who tried to stop him. The man escaped.

The negro entered the store while Woolenberg was alone and grabbed some small articles from a counter and ran out of the store. Woolenberg gave chase and when he shouted "stop thief" the fleeing negro turned and shot him. The negro waved his revolver in a threatening manner at citizens who tried to seize him. A patrolman tried to intercept the fugitive and the negro emptied two chambers of his revolver at him, but failed to hit him. Then Wm. Kessel, a citizen made an attempt to head off the negro, who again discharged his revolver and the bullet went through Kessel's jaw. Woolenberg died later.

Murderer Captured.
The negro was captured in the woods at Lower Preakness, this afternoon and brought to the city. An immense crowd had gathered around the city hall, but there was no demonstration. The negro gave his name as Arthur Lasker, 20 years old, and said he had been living in Newark.

MAYOR JONES NEARER DEATH.

Condition Today Is Such That There is But Slight Chance of Recovery.

Toledo, June 30.—Mayor Jones, of Toledo, who was stricken with pneumonia some days ago, is in a critical condition. His physician says there is slight chance of recovery. He is worse today than at any time previously.

BEAVERS MUST FACE TRIAL.

New York, June 30.—The motion of his counsel to quash the Brooklyn indictments against George W. Beavers, former supt. of the sailors and allowances division of the postoffice department was denied today in Brooklyn by U. S. Judge Thomas, who also declined to allow Beavers to enter a demurrer to the Brooklyn indictment.

HY. DAVIS DRAWS PRIZE.

Columbus, O., June 30.—Governor Herrick today appointed Hy. D. Davis, of Cleveland, to be state fire marshal to succeed S. D. Hollenbeck, of Chariton. The appointment is effective on July 15th.

IRON HARVARD-YALE BOAT CONTEST.

Trade Has Been So Shut in That The First Half

Of the Year Ends With a Promise

That There Will Be a Return to the February Basis.

When the Output Was Estimated, the Yearly Rate Was Less Than Fifteen Million Tons.

Cleveland, O., June 30.—The Iron Trade Review has this today concerning market conditions, in its current issue:

"The first half of 1904 ends with a restrictive movement underway in the iron trade that promises to bring pig iron production back to the February basis, when the output was at yearly rate of less than 15,000,000 tons. The extent of shut downs of rolling mills and steel works on July 1 and the length of the idle period cannot be fully determined at this writing, but will be considerable. Scale disagreement will cause more interruption, play in sheet and tin plate mills, and to some extent in bar mills. But there is a disposition among blast furnace operators to prevent the accumulation of their product, so that the idleness of the mills will not necessarily mean further weakening in the pig iron market.

"A scale agreement was reached by the American Sheet and Tin Plate company in the week on a basis of 18 per cent reduction and are still in conference, which leaves wages as they have been since the special April conference. The rebate question is still undecided, however. The independent sheet manufacturers want a 20 percent reduction and are still in conference with the workers. The non-union mills of the leading interest are the disturbing factors, and the possibility of the idleness of all union sheet and tin mills for some weeks is not remote. The Republic Iron and Steel company will close most of its mills for a part of July. At Joliet, Illinois, the rod mill department has closed down and further suspensions there are expected. The National Tube company will close down some of its mills for urgent repairs, but has plenty of orders. A number of American Steel and Wire company plants, as well as independent wire plants in Pittsburgh and Iron districts, will be out in early July. The hoop and bar mills of the Carnegie Steel company are expected to be off for a time, the scale being still unsigned. With not a few mills there is no pressing necessity for running on and the mid-year inventory and repairs are opportune. In the central west a few more blast furnaces have gone out and there is an evident adjustment to the reticement for a quiet summer.

"In spite of these general preparations for curtailed output, there has been more than a fair volume of inquiry for pig iron and for steel products in the past week. If anything like the full tonnage represented in inquiry were realized in orders, the activity would be marked."

The Two Famous Eastern Universities Contested for Supremacy Today.

In the Series of Contests Yale Has Won Eighteen Times and the Harvard Men Made a Fruitless Effort to Prevent Them Winning in the Eighteenth Contest.

New London, Conn., June 30.—For the twenty-sixth time since 1876 the oarsmen of Harvard and Yale universities are contesting today on the Thames river course in the annual regatta. During all these years the crews of the two institutions have met regularly on this course except in 1896, when the famous athletic imbroglio kept the two colleges apart in all branches of sport. In 1897, the two crews met at Poughkeepsie in a triangular race with Cornell, and both went down to defeat. In 1898 the old rivals again met the two New England crews and went down to defeat before Courtney's men. In 25 races rowed between Harvard and Yale on this course, victory has gone to Yale in 17 contests.

Accordingly today's battle found Harvard men determined to break down Yale's long line of successes, and the New Haven collegians stubborn in a purpose to prevent this. The great crowds which had arrived in New London yesterday and last night were augmented upon the arrival of the earliest morning trains, to be still further increased when excursion trains from Boston and New Haven and other points arrived.

Daybreak brought with it weather conditions of a character disheartening to those unfamiliar with the antics of New London weather. All night long there hung over the harbor and river, a dense fog and at 7 o'clock, it had not lifted appreciably.

Half an hour later, however, the fog lifted, and the sun began to give signs of life. At that hour it looked as if the day would prove clear and hot. At the mouth of the harbor the wind was out of the southeast. Eight miles up the river off the quarters of the crew, there was a little westing in the southerly breeze and things looked auspicious. The water was beautifully smooth and there seemed to be every prospect of fine racing conditions. Long before 8 o'clock, there began a procession of yachts up the river to the finish line. The hotel was thronged with early risers, who made their way down town and up the river to be ready for the first race, that between the freshmen, scheduled for 10.30 a. m. There was almost no betting. The odds on the big race remained 2 to 1 with Yale the favorite. Wm. McKelham, of New York, is the referee.

The contesting oarsmen were astir early and although the Harvard-Yale "Varsity" rowing races during the last four years have ended in victory for Yale, the two old time athletic rivals prepared for today's three events with the same confidence and determination.

tion to win that has characterized their attitude ever since college racing was inaugurated. Neither of the "Varsity" crews was over confident this morning, but the sentiment at the Yale quarters certainly had more of expectation of success than that at Harvard's.

Fog Still Heavy.

At 10 o'clock the fog banks had settled back of the hills, but the weather over the upper end of the course was still thick, making it difficult to see the half-mile flag at any distance. The wind, which was very light, was blowing straight up the course. The tide was running strong and full up-stream, so that there was a prospect to freshman and four-oared crews would be able to make fast time.

Harvard Won Toss.

In the freshman race, the first event scheduled, which was to be rowed from the New London drawbridge to the navy yard, Harvard selected the east course, having won the toss.

Heavy Rainfall.

A down-pour of rain struck Gales Ferry, in the vicinity of the Harvard and Yale course, about 10.55, driving everybody under shelter. Although the breeze had freshened somewhat, the river did not grow appreciably rougher.

Gales Ferry, Conn., June 30.—8.30 a. m.—The weather at this hour on the Thames river, is foggy with a slight rain falling. The wind is from the southeast and the surface of the river is favorable to racing, being only a little ruffled.

Yale Freshmen Win.

New London, June 30.—The freshmen race was started at 11.30. Both crews took the water at the same time, making a remarkably pretty start. They pulled the same stroke for the first eighth of a mile, slight advantage.

At the quarter mile, both crews apparently slowed their stroke a trifle, but their blade work was beautiful. At the half mile the crews were on even terms.

The boats passed the mile mark in 4.40, and through the mist seemed to be on about even terms.

Approaching the mile and a half mark Yale seemed to have a slight lead. Yale was pulling 34 strokes to the minute, Harvard 36.

Yale won by half a length. Time—unofficial—10.29 1-5.

Official Time.

The official time of the Yale-Harvard freshman race—Yale 10.20; Harvard 10.20 1/2.

THE IDLER.

The New York Age publishes the following account of the funeral of Ida Howard, a former Lima woman, whose mother resides on west McKibben street, in this city:

"The remains of Ida Howard, otherwise known as Goldie Moran, who was shot dead in the street, were taken to Bethel A. M. E. church, on 25th street, on Thursday at 1 p. m. in a handsome lavender embossed plush casket, with silver rope extension bow handles. She was beautifully robed in white satin. Her numerous friends sent many floral offerings. Her remains were interred at Mt. Olivet cemetery, Maspeth, L. I. The funeral was directed by J. C. Thomas."

Billv Ganns, the veteran ball player, who was a member of the Findlay team years ago, when that city was in the Interstate league, is catching for the strong Chicago Junction aggregation which will play two games with Findlay Friday and Saturday.

Richard Stone, of Lima, was awarded the job of putting in lead pipes from the water main to the curb of each lot on Cherry street from Main street to the railroad. A force of hands are now at work.

CASTE IN INDIA.

Its Peculiarities Illustrated by the Religion of the Sweeper.

Among the yet unsolved problems of Indian ethnology is the religion of the sweeper caste. It seems clear enough through all the confusion that the supreme deity of the (Luhars is Laljora, or Lalberg, "a god without form or dwelling place."

A mound of earth, unadorned by a piece of stick and a bit of cloth for a flag, is this deity's shrine, and to it "poojah" is made and a little sacrifice offered of ghee, or grain. It needs no consecration, this simple shrine, and wherever the sweeper may be, if sickness comes or a gift is desired, the little shrine may be set up, with its queer bit of rag and stick, and the worshiper's prayer is made.

The sweeper will have nothing to do with the transmigration of souls. Once a sweeper always a sweeper, and even the ideal sweeper, Pir Jhota, with his broom of gold and basket of silver, "cleans new the fourth heaven, the house of God, and sweeps the apartments of the highest." The good sweeper goes to heaven, however, after death, but in the heaven of a sweeper there is nothing to do but bathe and sit at ease.

The bad sweeper, on the other hand, goes to hell, where he is tormented by fire and wounds till the deity is pleased to vouchsafe relief. Between these two extremes is a kind of purgatory, where the sweeper who is not good enough for the one place and not bad enough for the other undergoes a sort of probation which either kills or cures him.

Of Balmik, the great leader of one sect of sweepers and now himself, like Pir Jhota, a sweeper in the courts of heaven, the accounts differ so widely that it is difficult to identify him. It seems clear, however, that with the profession of sweeper he combined the recreation of poetry, and there is some amount of evidence in favor of his having been the author of the "Ramayana."

He is alternately represented as a low caste hunter of the Karnal Nardak and as a Bhil highwayman who was converted by a saint whom he was about to rob. There is a legend, too, that he laid down his life for the sweepers of Benares and induced the people of that city to admit sweepers into their presence, as they had never done before.

As for Lalberg, the other great leader, he takes us back at once to the days of Homeric myth. He was born from the coat of Balmik and suckled by a hare, in proof whereof Chuhars to this day abstain from eating hares. On the other hand, Lalberg was also born of a pitcher, through the power of Abdul Kader Kilani, and when the Prophet Elias was turned into a sweeper for spitting on the saints in heaven it was Lalberg who relieved him.—Times of India.

Wise Beyond Her Years.

He was a curly headed boy with life before him. She was a little girl with a saucy pug nose, but wise, it would seem, beyond her years. The fact that she was nursing a doll with eyes that opened and shut with a click may have been his inspiration.

"Say, sister, I think I'd get married if I knew how."

"Oh, that's easy," replied the owner of the pug nose. "First you buy a diamond ring and give it to her, then you buy a gold ring like mamma's got and give that to her. And then you must buy her a watch for her birthday."

"An' what she give me?" expectantly asked the little chap.

"Why, nuttin', of course," smartly replied his little companion.

"Say, sister," he added, "I guess I won't marry."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A Sioux Indian Custom.

Among the Sioux Indians a common custom exists. When one family borrows a kettle from another, it is expected when the kettle is returned a small portion of the food that has been cooked in it will be left in the bottom. Should this custom be disregarded by any one, that person would never be able to borrow again, as the owner must always know what has been cooked in her kettle. A white woman on one occasion returned a scoured kettle, intending to teach a lesson in cleanliness, but her act became the talk of the camp as a fresh example of the meanness of the whites.

A Piece For His Dog.

Rossini lived before the day of special pleas for the dog, but he was sufficiently in advance of his time to recognize the equality if not the superiority of his own favorite beast. The Gentleman's Magazine says that the late Sir Arthur Sullivan made Rossini's acquaintance in Paris. One morning when Sullivan called to see him, he found the composer trying over a piece of music.

"What is that?" asked Sullivan.

"It's my dog's birthday," Rossini replied gravely, "and I write a little piece for him every year."

A SATISFACTORY YACHT RACE.

Royal Leighton had been hanging about Blanche Asche for a long while. Miss Asche gave him little encouragement; indeed she seemed to be at times bored by his persistency. She was full of mischief and occasionally would give him a bit of hope just to see how crestfallen he would be when she gave him the cold shoulder. Both were rich. Leighton's taste was for horses; Miss Asche's for boats. One day when Leighton had proposed for the tenth time the lady said to him:

"I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll match my yacht Ariadne against your Oneda. If your boat beats mine I'll marry you. If mine beats yours be it understood that you're not to bother me with your propositions ever after."

"But my Oneda is a tub," said Leighton. "I know nothing about yachts. You know a lot about them, and your Ariadne is the fastest boat of her class afloat in American waters."

"It's that or nothing," Blanche replied. "If you accept, I'll send my sailing master to you to arrange the details; if not, I shall consider any future attentions from you as the world would consider an insult from one who has refused to fight."

There was nothing for Leighton but to seize upon this one chance. He agreed to the terms, the best two in three races, sailed under the standard yachting rules. Both yachts were inspected and measured, but this was a mere form, for neither was to give the other any time.

On the day of the first race few knew anything about it, and those who did failed to see much pleasure in prospect for a race between the fleet Ariadne and the commonplace Oneda.

There was a fine breeze to the stake boat, and the Ariadne sailed away from the Oneda, turning the stake half a mile in the lead, but coming back there was much surprise on the part of the spectators to see that the Oneda under a slackening wind gained on her rival, but she did not make up more than half her loss, and the first race was won by Miss Asche.

At the second—a triangular race—there was scarcely any wind at all. The spectators speculated as to how the Oneda could get over the water, while the Ariadne was almost becalmed, but it was generally supposed that the sails of the former took advantage of a tide current. The Oneda drew away from her rival on the second leg of the triangle and kept most of what she had gained on the third leg, coming in a full minute ahead.

Miss Asche's heart stood still. Before the third race was sailed the captain of the Ariadne asked permission to make a personal inspection of the Oneda. It was granted, but if the inspector was looking for some propelling machinery he found none. Indeed there was no need of such an inspection, for a representative of each owner sailed on the opposing yacht. The captain went away apparently satisfied, but puzzled.

There were a few persons on the dock early in the day before the third race who saw members of the Oneda's crew go aboard and noticed that when they walked it was with a stiff gait, while one of them had a stomach on him disproportionate to his limbs. But these witnesses had nothing to do with the yachts or the races.

The third race was to and from a stake boat with the wind on the quarter. The winning of the second race by the Oneda had excited an interest in the last trial, and the course was covered by yachts and pleasure boats. Of course no one knew of the stake or water for the contestants. If the second race was a surprise, the third was a marvel. The Oneda, without carrying either the sail or having the excellent lines of her rival, had no sooner got away under an eight knot breeze than she began to draw ahead, turning the stake a quarter of a mile in advance. On the way back the breeze lulled, and with the lull the relative speed of the Oneda increased. She crossed the line three-eighths of a mile ahead of the Ariadne amid shouts of the spectators and barking of yachts' canoes.

There was suspicion that, after all, there had been fraud perpetrated in the race, but Miss Asche's representative said that he had been on deck every minute of every race and could have detected it if practiced. Mr. Leighton dined with the loser on the evening of the last race, and after dinner they retired to the library, where he claimed his reward. Miss Asche confessed with her head on his bosom that she had dreaded lest she should win. Nevertheless she was chagrined that her yacht should have been so ignominiously beaten.

"Don't distress yourself about that, sweetheart," said her lover. "Tomorrow I will give you a sail in her and show why she was beaten."

When they were aboard the Oneda Leighton gave the crew orders to line up on deck. From the fat man's stomach he took the parts of a pump, while the rest pulled sections of piping from under their trousers legs. These were taken to the keelson, a cork taken from a hole in the stem and one from the stern. When the apparatus had been put together, water was sucked noiselessly from the forehead hole and ejected from the one at the stern.

"I got the idea," said Leighton, "from a marine animal that propels itself in the same fashion."

Miss Asche was satisfied. She had lost the race, as she had secretly dreaded, and her boat was still her pride.

He Presented a Quaint Appearance as He Followed the Court.

Following the court about on the circuit was no doubt the joy of Lincoln's life. He was so fond of it that he declined a flattering offer to enter a lucrative law partnership in Chicago, because, as he contended, it would necessitate more or less confinement in the office and therefore keep him off the circuit. Seated by a one horse buggy, behind a sorry looking animal, he would set out from Springfield, to be gone for weeks at a stretch. The lawyers, as he drove into each successive place, eagerly anticipating a new stock of stories, gave him a cordial welcome, and the landlords hailed his coming with delight, for he was one of the most patient and uncomplaining of guests. "If every other fellow," relates one of his colleagues, "grumbled at the indifferent accommodations and scant fare which greeted us at many of the dingy taverns we struck, Lincoln said nothing." His forbearance in this regard well warrants the observation he is said on one occasion to have made—that he never so completely felt his "own unworthiness as when he stood face to face with a real, live hotel clerk."

How he appeared on the circuit may be gleaned from this sketch of him drawn by Henry C. Whitney. One of his colleagues in central Illinois: "His hat was brown, faded and the nap usually worn or rubbed off. He wore a short cloak and sometimes a shawl. His coat and vest hung loosely on his giant frame. His trousers were invariably too short. In one hand he carried a faded green umbrella, with a 'Lincoln' in large white cotton or muslin letters sewed on the inside. The knob was gone from the handle, and a piece of cord was usually tied round the middle of the umbrella to keep it from flying open. In the other hand he carried a carpetbag, in which were stored the few papers to be used in court and underclothing enough to last till his return to Springfield."—Century.

QUEER ILLUSIONS.

Morbid Minds That Associate Names and Numbers With Colors.

"Numerals have no colors to you and to me," said a psychologist. "Three, for instance, doesn't seem to us to be pink, and eight doesn't seem to us to be brown, but there are certain slightly diseased minds to which almost every word in the language appears to have color."

"The odd part of this matter is that when you study the minds that attribute colors to figures you find them almost unanimous in attributing to each figure a particular hue. Thus, they will say that one is black, two is cream, three is pale brown, four is red brown, five is blue, six is tan, seven is green, eight is so on. Finding among the morbid so uniform a belief in the blackness of one, the blueness of five and the greenness of seven, you almost persuade yourself that these figures actually have colors."

"Some morbid minds hold that names have colors. A New Orleans glottologist says that to him John is blue, Atlanta is steel gray, Peter is brown, and so on."

"Mankind harbors an incredible number of illusions. Each one of us, perhaps, has an illusion of some sort. Mine is that if I count on getting a thing I desire I will be surely disappointed. My wife's is that her brother appears to her in dreams."

"I know a nervous, pallid woman who attributes certain perfumes to certain sounds. A soprano voice to her is like lilacs of the valley. A tenor voice is like roses. A contralto voice is like heliotrope. A bass voice is like violets."

Animal Oils In Medicine.

The number of animal oils and fats used in medicine are extremely numerous. Large quantities of oil are obtained in Tasmania from the mutton bird and used as a liniment for rheumatism, while the fat of the frigate bird is said to be an excellent specific for scabies. Cod liver oil is too well known to bear more than mention, and the oil got from the dugong, an aquatic monster related to the whale tribe, has a high reputation as a substitute for that obtained from the smaller fry of the cod. From six to fourteen gallons of this medicinal oil can be taken out of a single animal.

John Bright's Speeches.

John Bright had a curious method of guarding against any failure of memory or language in his public speeches. When he had to deliver a speech of importance he wrote a sort of essay on the subject and tore it up. He then wrote another and treated it in the same way, and finally a third. In this way he considered that he had not only exhausted his own thoughts upon the matter in hand, but had gained such a command over the language in which it could be expressed that he could never be at a loss for the right word.

The Escapes He Wanted.

Otherwise Makers of the Poison Could Not Stand Its Fumes.

Eating of arsenic is common in Syria. The Syrians say that arsenic makes one plump and comely and gives one strength for great exertion, such as running or mountain climbing.

Syria, in Austria, gives the world vast quantities of arsenic. The manufacture of this drug is indeed the main Syrian industry. They who make arsenic eat it, as a rule, for they say that only the arsenic eater can withstand the arsenic fumes.

These makers and eaters of the drug are comely. They have a blooming and clear color. They look much younger than they are.

"The foreman in a certain arsenic factory told me that in his boyhood, when he first went to that plant, he was advised to begin to eat arsenic lest his health suffer from the fumes," says a toxicologist. "He did begin, and his first two or three small doses gave him a sharp pain, like a burn, in the stomach, and this pain was followed by tremendous hunger and a violent, disagreeable excitement. But as his doses increased in frequency and size their effect became pleasant. There was no longer pain or excitement. On the contrary, there was a ravenous appetite, as well as a mood of joyous activity wherein he could do three men's work."

"This chap, by the time he got to be thirty, was taking four grains of arsenic a day. He looked at thirty, with his clear pink and white color, no more than twenty-three. He was as robust as a blacksmith. But he said he would die at forty-five or so, that being the age at which all the Syrian arsenic eaters die."

The drug is a preservative, and in Syria when graves are opened bodies are found to be as fresh six or seven years after interment as on the day they were lowered into the earth.—Chicago Tribune.

HALF FALSE JEWELS.

How One Diamond Makes Two Each as Big as the Original.

The lapidary was splitting a diamond. He leaned forward with intent brows. His tiny machine buzzed like a bee. A delicate and shining dust arose.

Then suddenly everything was stilled, and the diamond, split in halves, lay in the lapidary's white, thin hand.

"Out of one diamond," he said, "I am going to make two, and each of these two will be as big and brilliant as the original one was."

As he scraped up the glittering dust he explained:

"First I will make in paste an exact duplicate of each of these two halves. Then I will join to the bottom of each genuine half its artificial complement, making the junction so carefully that no one will be able to perceive it. Finally I will mount these two half false and half genuine stones. Each then will appear to be altogether genuine. Their paste foundations will not detract in any way from their brilliance. The owner of the big diamond will have two big diamonds."

"The making of fake jewels," the lapidary said, "is an interesting study. Do you know what the best fake pearls are made of? They are made of fish scales—silvery and iridescent fish scales pasted on the inside of balls of glass. The fish these scales come from is called in France the ablette and in England the bleak. It is smaller than a minnow. Its scales must be picked off by hand, and only a small portion of them can be used. It takes 15,000 ablettes, or bleak, to yield a pound of scales."—New York Telegram.

Separating Them.

"In the old days, when the capital of Alabama was located at Tuscaloosa, there was a good deal of open gambling at that seat of legislation," said a southern man. "It was the custom in those times for men of all grades of society to risk their money at games of chance, and the lawmakers who gathered at Tuscaloosa were among the best patrons of the gaming tables."

"The proprietor of one of these resorts, wishing to keep the state solons separated from the ordinary customers of his place, put up a big sign in the apartment devoted to faro, poker, roulette and the like, which read:

"Members of the legislature please take the table to the right; gamblers take the table to the left. It's hard to tell you apart."—Washington Post.

Germany's First Windmill.

The first windmill in Germany was built at Windsheim. The Augustine monks at that place desired to build one such as they had seen in Italy, but the lord of the manor forbade them, declaring that the winds belonged to him. The monks applied to the bishop of Utrecht, who promptly laid down the fundamental principle that no one had any power over the winds of his diocese but himself. He gave permission to build the mill and it was erected in the closing years of the fourteenth century.

Mention.

Today at noon during the storm a couple of wires broke and hung down in front of the Pellegrini saloon on south Main street, and for a while there were plenty of anxious ones watching lest some unfortunate person might stumble against them, and be electrocuted. A policeman was finally stationed nearby to warn all who might chance that way.

Sylvester Miller Obsequies.
The funeral services over the remains of Sylvester Miller, who died yesterday at his home on south West street, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Market street Presbyterian church, of which he was an active member. Interment will be made in Woodlawn cemetery.

Great Day for Children Coming.
Among the other religious organizations in south Lima to demand attention is the Salvation army. They have erected a tent just south of the bridge on Main street, in which they hold meetings nightly. The army is now in charge of Ensign Metcalf, and is gradually gaining in strength and is being supported by some of Lima's foremost citizens on both sides of the river. In an interview with Mr. Metcalf a few evenings ago, a Times-Democrat representative was told of a future event which will be the means of bringing joy to many children's hearts, as well as to their mothers.

For some time the army has been planning to give an outing for about four hundred children and their mothers, and Ensign Metcalf says that arrangements have been made with the management of McBeth Park to accommodate the above number. Besides giving the little folks a free ride to and from the Park, all the attractions at that resort will be at the disposal of the army, with the exception of the theatre, and Mr. Metcalf says it would hardly be consistent to teach and preach against theatres and then permit children under their care to go to such places. To the little folks everything will be free, and it is needless to say that they will have no trouble in securing the full quota of children who will be glad to take advantage of the army's liberality. Ensign Metcalf says there will be men of experience to handle the boats, and only a certain number will be allowed to get aboard at one time, and that the greatest care will be taken to prevent accident; therefore no mother may fear to trust their little ones to the army's care.

The date of this free excursion and outing will be July 28th, unless bad weather compels a postponement.

"Other cities give these outings, and with great success, and Lima's corps can do the same thing. We expect to have a grand time. Tell the people about it, please," were Mr. Metcalf's parting words.

Lamberton Obsequies.
At 10 o'clock this morning, at the family residence on east Eureka street, occurred the funeral of the late Mrs. Martha E. Lamberton, who passed away so suddenly from heart trouble Tuesday morning. Rev. Dr. R. J. Thompson, of the west Market street Presbyterian church, was the officiating minister. Interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery.

Four Day Special.

Rev. D. W. Myland, of Cleveland, will be at the Gospel Tabernacle on south Main street, Friday evening, for a four-day series of meetings. It is intended to hold baptismal services one afternoon while the Rev. Myland is here to take charge.

In Honor of Bride and Groom.
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ricketts, on south Pine street, at noon yesterday, an elaborate luncheon was served in honor of their son, Mr. Frank B. Ricketts, and his bride.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Bloxham, of Alger, parents of the bride; the latter's sister, Miss Minnie Bloxham; Miss Mattie Blissett, of Fremont; Charles Seltz, of Tremont City; Rev. C. C. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bowdye.

South Side People in Trouble.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock officers Neunbrecht and Jackson were called to the McGriff barber shop on south Main street, where two "shavers," Hesheler and Gantz, had indulged in pugilistic bout over a barber bill. Both men were taken to the station and appeared before his honor this morning.

John O'Connell paid a fine yesterday for keeping open on Sunday.

T. J. Hites was before the mayor this morning for the same offense.

On a warrant sworn out by Miss Bernice Barriere, charging disorderly conduct, Archie Leroy and C. Russ are under arrest.

Briefly Told.

Mrs. Thos. Johnson, of Huntington, Ind., is a guest of Mrs. Sanford Coon, on east Circular street.

M. P. Goodwin, of Holmes avenue, returned last night from a month's visit in Noble and Guernsey counties. His family remained for a longer visit there.

Win Titus, of Elkhart, Ind., was a guest of the Stevens family, on south Main street, yesterday.

South side music lovers should not forget the concert at the band stand this evening.

Miss Edna Kentner, of Wapakoneta, is the guest of Miss Nola Nolt, of Second street.

Mrs. Grace Glaser, who has been visiting the D.L. Blume family on east Eureka street, returned to New York City today.

The first services to be held in the new Highland Park church of Christ which the Rev. Sims dedicated two weeks ago Sunday, was the funeral of little Zelma Stemen.

Song of the Diamond.
Piqua is playing great ball on the home grounds; and rapidly getting even with the throw down at Urbana. For the second time, the visitors have been shut out. Robertson did the pitching and while the hits were evenly divided, Urbana failed to get one when it counted. The score was 4 to 0.

Sidney, it seems, will not play ball this season. The deal whereby the Warren team was to have been transferred to that city has fallen through. Perhaps Frank Seitz, who caught for Warren early in the season might help the local management to get a line on one or two of the Warren players.

PIQUA NEEDS HELP
To Keep Its Fast Ball Team For the Rest of the Season.

And now Piqua is devising ways and means to keep from losing its semi-professional ball team. The horn of plenty is about empty and it has become necessary to appeal to the public for help. A benefit game is to be played next Tuesday afternoon, and tickets will be sold for $1.00. As an instance of what the attendance has been less than 100 fans witnessed the 3 to 0 game with Urbana on Monday, when pitcher Howard, of Piqua shut out the visitors without a hit. If Piqua fails to make the rifle it would be well for the Lima management to get first choice of some of the best players outside of the league teams. Here's hoping, however, that Piqua fans will prove loyal and help the management to continue the sport through the season.

HELD

In Default of One Thousand.

"Dr." Blakeley

Arrested by the Federal Authorities

On Charge of Sending Obscene Letters Through the Mails.

Case Is to Be Given a Preliminary Hearing Before a United States Commissioner This Afternoon.

T. J. Blakeley, who gives himself the professional title of "Dr." and who, with his wife, has occupied a suite of box cars in the park addition, near Lakewood avenue, for several months, is a prisoner of the United States authorities at Toledo, charged with having sent obscene letters through the mails. He was locked up in the Toledo prison last night in default of bail in the sum of $1,000, and his case was set for a preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner this afternoon.

Blakeley was arrested at his home about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by deputy United States Marshal Wagner and U. S. Postoffice Inspector Kile, and was taken to Toledo on the C. H. & D. train No. 4, which left here at 4:35 o'clock.

The defendant is regarded here as an eccentric individual who has amused the public and especially the members of the medical profession with the manner in which he has advertised himself as a specialist in a certain line. The obscene letter which brought about his arrest was sent to a Mrs. Daisy Watson, of Chicago, who, evidently is a trained nurse. The "doctor" claims that nothing but professional terms were used in the mischievous, but Mrs. Watson evidently thought differently for she turned the letter over to the postoffice authorities.

Concerning the case the Toledo Times, this morning published the following:

"T. J. Blakeley, a Lima man, about 45 years of age, was arrested in that city yesterday afternoon by Deputy Marshal Wagner and Postoffice Inspector Kile, and brought to Toledo for a preliminary hearing on a charge of sending obscene letters through the mails.

"Blakeley was arraigned before United States Commissioner Brown and his bail set at $1,000, in default of which he was taken to jail to await a hearing at 3:30 this afternoon in the government building."

SPEEDING

At Rate of Forty Miles an Hour,

Was Neff's Auto When It Hit an Abutment.

Machine and Occupants of the Car Were Hurled Into the Ditch, But They Were Not Seriously Injured.

B. L. Neff, the well known stock broker and automobileist, experienced his first serious automobile accident last night and is congratulating himself today on having escaped with his life, and without any broken bones. He took Harry Moore and F. E. Baxter to Kenton, yesterday, to attend the race meet that is being held there and they may be thankful, also, that they did not return with him. Lou Ward, the well known clairvoyant player, came back with him however, and was thrown through a wire fence when the wreck occurred, but was not seriously injured, while Mr. Neff escaped with a few severe bruises.

Neff was endeavoring to break W. E. Rudy's Lima-Kenton record and declares he would have done so, by making the return trip in one hour and forty minutes, but for the accident. The machine was speeding along at a rate of forty miles an hour, when, at a bridge, a short distance east of the city on the Marion road, the wheels hit a washed out place and the machine was thrown against a stone abutment of the bridge and was then hurled into the ditch beside the roadway.

The auto was badly damaged, but after securing the assistance of some farmers in getting it back onto the road, Mr. Neff was able to run on into the city.

J. W. Smallwood, who recently sold his Hawk cafe, on north Main street, to Mr. Harry Leake, of Bradford, Pa., has again purchased the place, the deal being closed yesterday afternoon and the keys being turned over to L. H. O'Brien, chief clerk of the establishment, at 6 o'clock last evening. Mr. Smallwood had a number of opportunities to venture into the hotel, restaurant or saloon business in other cities, but he found Lima the best town in this part of the country and decided to return to this city.

AXE

Fell and One More Postmaster

Is Out of a Job.

A History of a Political Proceeding

By Which a Good, Honest Man Lost His Position.

He Was Put Out of Business to Satisfy the Anti-Hanna People and to Help Warnock Into a Job.

Findlay republicans are enjoying the luxury of a postoffice fight similar to that which was on here prior to the decapitation of George Hall by Roosevelt and his bestowal of the position upon Arch Campbell. The republicans of Lima did not want either Hall or Campbell to have the job, for neither were popular with the members of the party. In Findlay neither Boger nor Totten was wanted by the people, but Roosevelt appointed Totten, an anti-Hanna man to the position. No end of feeling has been worked up over the matter.

The history of this political movement is given in the following dispatch:
Findlay, Ohio, June 23.—Theodore Totten, of this city, has been decided upon for postmaster here in place of Postmaster Boger. The announcement that came from Washington late yesterday afternoon, has caused great surprise and some consternation among republican factions here.

When the news came that the president had decided upon Totten for postmaster, almost everyone, including Postmaster Boger, supposed an error had been made and that the dispatch should have said that Totten had been decided upon for state pension agent in Ohio. This morning that idea was dispelled and Postmaster Boger knew that he had been marked for slaughter because of partisan work on his part and the fact that Congressman Warnock himself was after the berth of state pension agent and had to provide for Totten, his rival for that place.

Boger says the deal was quietly fixed up at Chicago during the convention. That he was taken unawares is certain. When he really discovered this morning that he was slated for removal, Boger got into communication with Congressman Warnock at once. "Warnock at first refused to talk about the matter," said Boger, "but he finally said that charges had been filed against me in Washington. I tried to get him to go to Washington with me to face them, but he declared he could not do that. I guess I'm slated for the axe."

The charges at Washington, spoken of by Congressman Warnock, must be for "pernicious activity" in politics, as Boger has certainly been actively at work in politics and has made some enemies in his party. Theodore Totten, who is to be the new postmaster, enlisted in the United States navy at the outbreak of the civil war, at which time he was but 15 years old. He served throughout the war. Later, in partnership with his brother, he conducted a store in Findlay. During his spare moments, he read law and was admitted to the bar. He has been prominent in legal political and Grand Army circles, having been prosecuting attorney of Hancock county and mayor of Findlay.

YAVAPIA COUNTY, ARIZONA. GOLD, COPPER AND SILVER. PROPOSITION.
We absolutely own and operate 20 claims comprising 400 acres in the United Verde district in Yavapia county, Arizona, just south of Jerome, which we have been developing for the past two years with our own money until we now have the actual value of the ore in our mines which is from $15 to $50 per ton mine run. We have 1300 tons of ore out besides thousands of tons blocked out that can be taken out at little expense. We have all necessary machinery, good as new, plenty of running water and timber on our own land. We are now going to sell a limited number of shares to purchase a smelter, shares non-assessable and fully paid. We are incorporated under the laws of Arizona for $1,000,000. No incumbrances. We will begin paying dividends as soon as our smelter is erected, which will be this year. Write for prices and prospectus and investigate us.

THIRTEENTH

Annual Convention of Ohio Y. P. C. U.

Is Being Held in Memorial Church, at Toledo.

The Convention Will Close Today, During Which Three Sessions Will Be Held—A Large Number Present.

The Toledo Blade gives the following account of the proceedings of the thirteenth annual convention of the Y. P. C. U. now in session in that city:

The thirteenth annual convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Brethren church, that is in session in Memorial U. B. church, in an enthusiastic gathering of representative young people from all over northwestern Ohio.

The opening meeting, yesterday afternoon, was an indication of the spirit that prevailed throughout the evening, and at this morning's session, Rev. A. C. Siddall, of Bowling Green, was followed by an anthem by the Otterbein chorus, after which the address of welcome was delivered by C. R. Garton, president of the local union. Rev. E. A. Davis, of Lima, president of that branch, responded in a hearty manner.

The convention sermon was delivered by Rev. Edward S. Bowman, A. M., of Harrisburg, Pa., who has just returned from the Winona conference.

"Be Filled With the Holy Spirit" was the text of his address, in which he pleaded with the young people for a more complete service in behalf of missions and evangelization work, and he asked that their help be more equally distributed between the people at home and those in foreign lands.

At this morning's session of the Y. P. C. U. convention the regular business meeting was preceded by a sunrise service at 5:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. L. C. Sumner, of Chicago. At the business session, which opened at 7:30, Dr. H. K. Shumaker, of Canton, China, a returned missionary, spoke of the great task before the missionary who went to China, one of the chief difficulties being the learning of the Chinese language. He closed his address with an appeal for more men and women for that field of labor.

Rev. W. S. Sager, of Sidney, presented a paper on "The Forward Movement in the Sandusky Conference." R. D. Welker, of Lima, spoke on "Individual Duty." The Chichester Quartet, of Bryan, sang "Rock of Ages" in a beautiful manner, and in response to an encore sang "The Happy Throng."

Miss Belle Meyers, of Toledo, gave a practical talk on "Mission Study Classes." Miss Dora Ball Reed, of Joliet, read an instructive paper on "Increased Interest," and Miss Florence Kannel, of Carrothers, recited "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Rev. Wm. M. Bell, D. D., the general missionary secretary, of Dayton, gave some interesting facts concerning mission work. Dr. H. H. Fout, D. D., of Dayton, editor of the Sabbath School, gave an address on "The Spiritual Life." The session closed at noon, when dinner was served in the church parlors.

At the afternoon meeting, Rev. F. P. Rossett, Rev. W. A. Powell, Rev. L. S. Woodruff, and Rev. O. P. Rhodes will be the principal speakers. This evening Mrs. May Howard, of Tokio, China, and Rev. E. B. Allen will speak.

Three sessions will be held today, the convention to close at 7:30 in the evening.

HONORED BY THE GOVERNOR.

Hon. Walter B. Richie Appointed a Member of Hospital Commission,

Whose Duty It Will Be to Select a Site for the New State Insane Asylum, Which Lima Will Make an Effort to Secure.

The Times-Democrat received word today through the Associated Press of the appointment of Hon. Walter B. Richie, as a member of the commission to select a site for the proposed new hospital for the insane. A representative of the Times was the first to inform Mr. Richie of the official appointment, the news being received at the court house where he was engaged as a member of counsel for the defense in the case of Hicks vs the Electric Light Co.

Mr. Richie stated that he was not acquainted with the duties incumbent upon him, as a member of the commission, and was therefore unable to talk intelligently on the subject. He will wait for the official notice which will come to him direct from the Governor, and a conference with the other members will likely be held in the near future.

The appointment is of considerable interest, aside from the fact that a Lima townsman has been honored to a position of trust, for Lima will come forward with an invitation to have the new hospital located in this city. With a representative on the board to further that prospect, it adds to the chances of success and every active business man in the city will use his efforts to have the proposition favorably considered by the commission, as well as by the general assembly when the report is finally made by that body.

The telegram from Columbus which contained the information also gives the names of the other members and reads as follows:

Columbus, June 30--Governor Herrick today appointed these members of the commission to investigate a location and secure an option thereon for a state hospital for the insane to report to the next general assembly: Dr. Everett LeFever, Mountville; C. J. Mannix, Cleveland; A. H. Judy, Greenville; Walter B. Richie, Lima; Dr. Arthur Smith, Wellington.

Traveler Falls From a C. & E. Passenger Train.

One Prisoner in Mayor's Court Was Fined for Fighting. Two Plead Not Guilty.

A Greek, whose name could not be pronounced if given, fell from an east-bound passenger train on the C. & E. after it had left the depot on the south side last night and had both of his knees so badly injured that the attention of a physician was necessary. He was taken to the police station and from there was taken to the Greek candy store in the Metheany block,

STEADILY

Conductor Fennessy is Reported to be Failing.

James Fennessy, a well known farmer L. E. & W. conductor, who has been seriously ill at the home of his mother, north of the city for some time, was today reported to be steadily sinking and there is no hope for his recovery. He is suffering from a cancer of the throat and has been unable to take any nourishment since last Friday.

Mr. Fennessy was for several years one of the most popular conductors of the L. E. & W. His striking appearance, magnificent physical build and friendly nature made him remembered wherever he was seen, and his friends are legion.

MET

In a Head-on Collision,

But the Crew

And Passengers Escape Serious Injuries.

Trains No. 2 and 7 Both Had the Main Track at Miamisburg,

When the Latter Was Supposed to be Safely on Siding. Lima Crew Escaped, Others Were Injured.

An early bulletin received this morning, with the information that passenger trains No. 2 and 7, on the C. H. & D. had met in a head-on collision at Miamisburg, caused a number of anxious inquiries to be made, but there was immediate relief when the report that none of the crew or passengers were seriously injured. The Lima crew on No. 7 escaped, with the exception of Express Messenger C. L. Hunter, of Marion, who had a miraculous escape, but suffered a number of bruises. His car was completely wrecked and piled up on the engine.

No. 7 is made up at Lima and left here at 2:15 with Conductor George Hunter in charge. Engineer C. L. Hoyt and Fireman Dave Bailey were in the cab. No. 2, the north bound paper train, due here at 7:55, was in charge of Conductor Durban, and Engineer Richard Cahill, of Hamilton, and Fireman Wm. Snyder, of Cincinnati were with the engine.

The collision occurred on the main track at Miamisburg, ten miles below Dayton, where it is the custom for No. 7 to take the siding and give No. 2 the right of way. For some reason, yet to be explained, No. 7 did not get in the clear, but continued south on the main track where the two trains met in a crash which put both engines, Nos. 207 and 209 out of the business. They were badly wrecked and the baggage cars were also broken up, the one on No. 7 being almost totally disabled.

The passengers on both trains got the full shock of the collision but none were injured beyond a severe shaking up. No. 2 was several hours late, reaching Lima with two passenger coaches at 11:55.

Express Messenger Hunter is reported as the most seriously injured, being thrown among the wreckage of his car. Conductor Richard Cahill had his arm broken and Fireman Snyder was considerably bruised when he unloaded.

FATHER

Of Little Lorine Kippen Has Arrived

And the Meeting With His Daughter Was a Sad One.

First News of the Distressing Accident Was a Severe Shock, as He Read a Telegram That She Had Been Killed.

Mr. Kippen, of Spokane, Wash, father of the little girl who was so cruelly injured in the street car collision, arrived in Lima yesterday, accompanied by Dr. McCune, of Toronto, Canada, who is a cousin.

It was a pathetic meeting, but the shock was not to be compared with the manner in which Mr. Kippen first became aware of the accident to his little daughter. He was travelling in Idaho when he bought a daily paper at a railroad station, and read the startling telegram sent from Lima that his little girl was the only one killed in the accident. It was at first supposed that her injuries were of a fatal nature, but she is now rapidly recovering from the amputation of her leg. Mr. Kippen had been informed that the limb had been taken off below the knee, and did not know until he reached the hospital that it had been removed but a few inches below the hip.

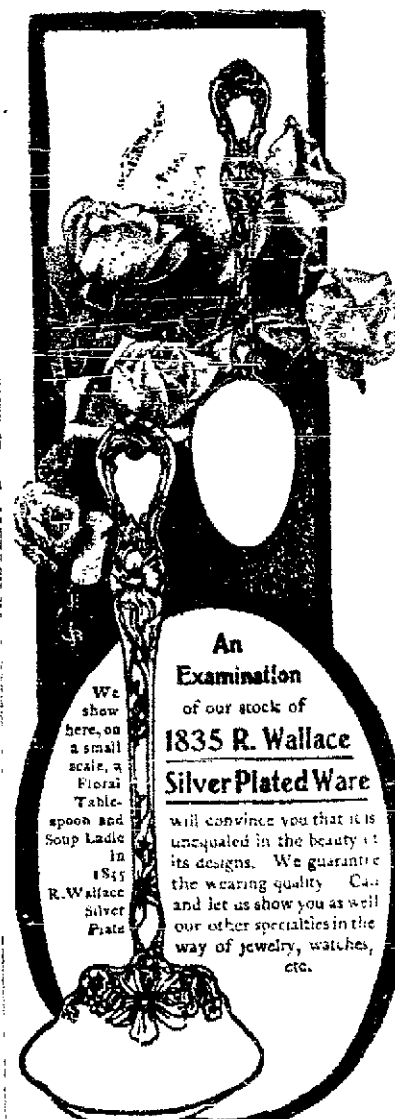

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. Kippen in his hour of trial.

INSANE.

Francis P. Berry Was Declared This Morning.

Francis P. Berry, a harness maker in the employ for several years of J. N. Fletcher, was declared insane at an inquest held by Judge Miller this morning. He is 33 years of age and has complained of a pressure on the brain and spine. He talks in a rambling fashion and has gone to physicians with the request that his brain and spine be removed and examined.
